CPC: Bulletin 7

Due to the financial problems, CPC Seventh Bulletin comes out too late! To prevent these long delays, from now on CPC bulletins will be printed digitally and will be posted on the CPC website (www.Caroun.org). A big pt of this bulletin and the next two will be the CPC news of this period. In the meantime, you can send your articles and photos for the next issues.

The results of the last 4 years CPC Annual Photo Contests will be published in this and next issues. CPC 8th Annual Photo Contest is announced too. We had our annual photo contests in two parts: First part on facebook, and the next as a juried photo contest. As there was no good result, the facebook section is cancelled.

We have a Digital Photo Contest since 2014. This contest has a special Theme each year and will be judged by an International jury. Members could upload their works on website, and can take part in summer group exhibition at Caroun Art Gallery, if they are interested.

CPC has participated in CAPA Pacific Zone Print Challenge each year: 10 photos by 10 members

Three Photo Contests each year is announced on website, and will be published in bulletins too.

Rather than the photo contests, Some of CPC members have received medals from Canadian association for Photographic Art (CAPA) for their activities. Its report will be published. Caroun Photo Club has a Page and a Group on facebook too, in which the news and report of the photo contests and exhibitions will be published.

Thanks to the Farhang BC Magazine and CAPA Pacific Zone Bulletin, CPC news is published permanently. Permanent cooperation of some of our members, Farhad Varasteh, Kaveh rasouli, Nafiseh Tabari, Iraj Roshani, Bahman Doustdar and Sahar Seyedi is highly appreciated.

You can send your photos and articles for bulletin No. 9 NOW!

Buddhist Temples: Vancouver

Nafiseh Tabari

Two Buddhist Temples are built in Richmond (Vancouver), BC, Canada. First in Buddhist Cultural Centre in Steveston Street, and the second in 5th Ave, Steveston, just a few minutes from the first.

These are the most magnificent traditional Chinese architecture in North America, which are visited by a big number of tourists from different countries worldwide. Different traditional ceremonies hold in these two temples, including Chinese New Year.

Fine symmetric architecture, different levels of the ceilings, curves of the ceilings, dragon shapes of the beams, gold and red colors of the buildings and tiles... remember us the magnificent of the Chinese Emperor's Palaces. These buildings, made of metal structure, are a combination of traditional Chinese architecture and Western technology.

A collection of artworks, including sculpture, water color painting, calligraphy and wood engraving, are gathered in these temples. Seven pictures of Buddha, painted on tiles, 26 meters height, are the largest in the world. Golden sculpture of 10,000-hand 10,000-eye (Badhisattva Avalokitesvara) is among this magnificent collection. This architecture, along with Chinese and Buddhist ceremonies are worth to be seen. Some tours are available at the temples.

CPC had its outing on October 11 at the both temples.

A collection of green fields, creeks, swamps and lakes, needs at least 4-5 hours to take a tour and a good place for photographing, nature and different birds in different seasons. The biggest number of the birds is gathered here in autumn.

"Thank you for inviting me to be a judge at the Caroun Photo Club in September. I enjoyed meeting with Masoud and seeing your home and gallery of work. I congratulate all the photographers who took part in the competition, your work was inspirational. I find that in judging other photographers work that I learn a lot about my own photography. Your work inspires me and when I am having trouble finding subject matter for my photography, I cast my mind back to others work and it pushes me on.

I really enjoyed viewing your members work and found it quite inspirational. Many congratulations to some fine photographers. Please feel free to join us, as guests of Crescent Beach Photography Club, at any time and we will endeavour to keep you informed when we have interesting programs that you might enjoy."
